

Constitution of the League of Legends Group

PREAMBLE

We, the members of the League of Legends group, in order to provide the students, faculty, and staff of Purdue University a means of uniting League of Legends players together, promote gaming across campus, and representing Purdue University in League of Legends gaming competitions across the Midwest, agree to the following constitution.

ARTICLE I

Name

The name of the organization set forth in this constitution is the League of Legends Group.

ARTICLE II

Purpose

Our purpose as an organization is to bring League of Legends players together in order to form friendships, play games together, and enhance the college experience. This would be done with weekly meetings, national competitions, and playing online casually.

ARTICLE III

Membership

Membership and participation are free from discrimination on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, age, national origin or ancestry, genetic information, marital status, parental status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, disability or status as a veteran. Only active Purdue University students are eligible for regular or active membership in the League of Legends Group. Purdue Alumni may still be involved in the League of Legends Group but cannot hold office or vote. Purdue University staff and faculty are eligible for adjunct membership but are not allowed to hold office or vote. Members of the general public and other individuals not affiliated with Purdue University may participate in our events, pending the approval by a majority vote of the current officers. Any officers or other authoritative entities responsible for the management of the facilities of a club event may deny access to individuals not affiliated with the League of Legends Group or Purdue University at their discretion. Participation in League of Legends Group events is denied to persons under the age of 18 years of age unless a waiver allowing them to view mature content and not be liable to the club is signed by their parent or guardian and submitted to an officer before the event.

ARTICLE IV

Officers

President:

The President must be a capable leader willing to make decisions for the organization, and must always care about the betterment of the organization. They must have leadership qualities and have morals and ethics that parallel the League of Legends Group's purpose and mission.

Vice President:

The Vice President must possess the same qualities as the club president, and also be able to settle disputes between officers.

Treasurer:

The Treasurer must be honest and trustworthy. They must also be proficient in handling club funds and exhibit exceptional organizational skills.

Public Relations Officer:

The Public Relations Officer must be outgoing and willing to invest time in publicizing the club and their events. Any artistic or technical graphic skills, in addition to excellent verbal and writing skills are preferred, but not required.

Faculty Advisor:

The Faculty Advisor must be a member of the Purdue Faculty/Staff and be willing to provide the necessary assistance the club requires from them.

Officers may choose to hold their position for the course of one academic school year, starting in August and ending in May. An election will be held at the end of each academic year for the President who will be selected by a majority vote by the current officers and members, and also be willing to hold their position. The other officers listed in this Constitution can be chosen by the President if a majority vote approves such decision. Any officer may be stripped of their title by a majority vote from the current officers.

ARTICLE V

Officers and Duties

President:

The President sets the agenda for the organization at the beginning of the semester and will do their best to make sure the organization follows the agenda. They are also in charge of the planning of any events and any bureaucratic work involved in hosting an event (Paperwork, reserving rooms, acquiring food, etc.)

Vice President:

The Vice President takes on a supporting role to the President, helping in all ways possible as well as settling inter-organization disputes.

Treasurer:

The Treasurer keeps accounts, deposits the organization's funds, and makes expenditures in a manner approved by the Business Office for Student Organizations. They must sign off on all club disbursements and must have an organized budget report on all financial transactions the club partakes in.

Public Relations Officer:

The Publicity Officer is primarily in charge of the promotion and public relations of the group including, but not limited to, posting flyers on campus, chalking sidewalks, word of mouth, etc. while remaining in accordance with Purdue guidelines. They are responsible for informing local media of events and handling all press inquiries.

Faculty Advisor:

The Faculty Advisor must bestow their wisdom and judgment upon the organization in order for the organization to achieve its mission.

All officer duties and responsibilities are subject to change if the organization needs it for that year. These changes can only be made if it is deemed necessary, and may only last temporarily for that academic year. Permanent officer duty and responsibility changes may only remain so if amended in the constitution.

ARTICLE VI

Amendments

Amendments to the constitution are made by the President, pending an approval by a majority vote by all officers and members in the organization. All amendments to the constitution and bylaws are subject to the approval of the Office of the Dean of Students.

BYLAWS

1. Dues:

Membership dues will be set by the President and Treasurer at the beginning of each academic year as seen fit in the need for dues. The President may even decide to not have membership dues if they so wish. These dues will be used to help pay for equipment, services for members, and other uses as seen fit by the President.

2. Refusal of service:

Officers reserve the right to refuse service to anyone at any organizational event, regardless of reason, save those already outlined in Article II. Examples of refusal of service include, but are not limited to: Previous incidences of inappropriate behavior, theft, knowingly attempting to disrupt event proceedings, and a general vile attitude.

3. Officer Training:

The officers in the President's cabinet are required to have undergone officer training the previous semester/year to be selected for their respective position. The training will consist of either shadowing the officer currently holding that position. However, this may be avoided if the need for an officer outweighs the benefit of training them the previous semester.

4. Hierarchy of Command:

The order that the officers are listed is the hierarchy of command. In the absence of the officer respectively above them, the officer will have the responsibility and decision making power of the position above them unless the President is present.

5. Amendment Documentation:

All amendments and revisions of the constitution must be noted at the end of the constitution by month and year. A name and current officer position must also be noted.
